

The National Breast and Cervical Cancer Early Detection Program

A Decade of Change
A Future of Hope

Celebrating 10 Years of Partnerships and Progress Against Breast & Cervical Cancer

- Since the Program's inception, over 2 million screening tests have been provided to underserved women.
- This Program provides free and low cost mammograms and Pap smear tests to underserved women throughout the Nation and U.S. territories.

Recognizing the value of screening and early detection, Congress passed the Breast and Cervical Cancer Mortality Prevention Act of 1990. This Act authorized critical breast and cervical cancer screening services for underserved women, including older women, women with low incomes, and women of racial and ethnic minority groups. The Act established the National Breast and Cervical Cancer Early Detection Program (NBCCEDP) administered by the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention.
